Dear Diary

Today I had an unpleasant experience of a doctor's visit. I was diagnosed with adenoids. Though I was not knowing it but the doctor's keen examination horrified me a lot. The doctor took a tiny blade and gave four to five little twists to cut off the adenoids. I was trembled with fear to see the blood coming out of my mouth. I held my mother's hand tightly. The nurse was very gently, she wiped my lips and face.

Coming to home without trolley car or taxi was a weird idea. But I had no option. I am relaxing now. I hope to get relief of my pain soon.

Dear Ruchi

I hope you are fine and doing well in your sports. I often wonder about the great discoveries and inventions of our scientists. They have not only made our life easier but comfortable to a great extend. Computers and cell phones are making our work faster and safer. Without them, it would have not been possible to connect to the world. Lot of time would have been wasted in establishing contact with each other. To access knowledge and information would have been too difficult.

The absence of advance technologies would have made us ignorant. We should be thankful to our great inventors who have blessed our lives with these equipments. You would agree with me as not a single day can be passed without using our computers and cell phones.

Eagerly waiting to get your reply.

Your loving friend

Dear Diary

I am very disappointed today as my seed has not sprouted yet. No plant has grown out of it. I have seen many wonderful looking plants grown in the pot of others. They have such healthy plants. The emperor will be pleased to see them. I am wondering whether I should go to the temple or not.

My mother is insisting me to go to the temple, as I have tried my best with my hard work to grow the plant. I will probably go to satisfy her. I am really feeling embarrassed and sad to face the emperor tomorrow.

Dear Diary

Today I was very happy because I have been selected in my school's football team. I have worked hard in the field and practiced continuously for many hours. Though I was bit nervous in my qualifying match but it can be called that my mother's blessing came true.

Now I would learn many more and improve a lot under the guidance of the best coach. I will never let my teach down. We would work as a team to win at the national level and make the name of our school shine.

(SPEAK OUT) Honesty can be called as the best policy because it works on the principles of truth. God bless those who follow the path of truth while punish those who don't pursue it. It is said that anything done with great honesty is appreciated and can be retained for longer while the attempts made out of greed and ill will get failed. Therefore it can be said that the honesty is the best policy for all the human beings.

LION EATS FOUR BROTHERS

Priyanka Soni

23rd July 2017

Odisha : Four brothers were reported to have been eaten by a lion in a village near Odisha yesterday. It is believed that the lion was brought alive by the magical powers of the brothers. The brothers had collected the bones of dead animal and the first brother set the bones with flesh. The second one then added skin to it. Similarly, the third one created the limbs. In the end the last brother breathe life into it, when the lion turned on them and ate them up.

Sub: Negligence of priceless historical monument in Bundi

Sir,

I, being a responsible citizen of free India, consider it my duty to attract public attention, through the esteemed columns of your prestigious newspaper, towards the neglectful and miserable condition of Bundi Fort.

It is the evidential witness of our past glory and grandeur. Due to the lack of maintenance , it is losing its shape and sheen .The walls are mouldering, roofs are getting cracked, stone pieces are losing plaster and the top corners of the walls have already crumbled. I am shocked to witness the sight of this historical monument with garbage around and poor security measures. The writings on the walls embarrassed me a lot.

I request you to oblige me by publishing this letter in your paper so that the authorities concerned are awakened in time and the priceless historical fort of Bundi could be saved and preserved.

Thanking you

Yours Truly

Dear Mother,

It is really nice to hear from you the practical rules to live life. As you are more experienced and learnt great lessons of life by your own experiences.

I will always be thankful to you for correcting the ills of my behavior at my earliest stages else I would have been mocked by the people of this society. I will definitely keel all the instructions in my mind and would become more judgemental.

Your Loving Son

To
The Director
Weather Forecasting Bureau
New Delhi
Dt: 23rd April, 20xx
Sub: The effects of Climate Change

Sir,

Global warming is an issue we have all been very aware of. However, although it appears to be straightforward. I would like to draw your attention towards the effect of global warming on the polar regions.

The problem affects the ice structure in the polar regions on many levels. The main problem seems to be that the 'grounding line' between grounded and floating ice is receding. Of course a lot of it is melting as well, but it is the disintegration of the main body which is most significant. The implication of this change are large scale and global rise in the sea level, climates and an increase in extreme weather, more cyclonic storms, changed wind patterns affecting temperature, hotter summer, colder winters, flooding and drought.

Thanking you

Your Truly

(1) Anand wanted to prove his physical strength to Bharat. (2) Anand felt very sad to hear his sister's accident because he had already returned from his path to accompany them. (3) No, Bharat was not really a bad boy because the way he helped Preeti showed his good behavior. He only provoked Anand which can be called as his silly gesture. H.(1) Anand learnt that he should not indulge in mere showcasing physical strength but be a responsible person in his life. (2) Bharat was a better person. Though he provoked Anand for taking steps in a great hurry but Anand had been knowing Bharat already. He could have ignored his comments. (3) Anand was adamant for reaching the springs first of all. Therefore he left his sisters behind without any concern. He wanted to win but before he reached, his conscience made him realize his responsibility which his father had given him. The accident of Preeti taught him a great lesson of life that he should not believe in mere show off. (LETS ANALYZE IT) 1) No, we should not shun our responsibilities completely it is a virtue to be a responsible man rather than a man of show off. 2) No, my mind is not clouded by the thoughts of showing somebody down because we need to hurt anybody by our actions or words. (1) true (2) false (3) true (4) false (5) false E. (1) The Sun will shine and the Moon will quiver (2) Aspen tree will witness the humming of bee. (3) The nature's processes remain in cycle of continuation and The rivulet flow remain in eternity. (4) The rivulet merge with the ocean and offer its tribute to the sea. (5) The rivulet merges into a river, becomes one with river and aim to reach the sea and finally mingle into a ocean. F. (1) The Aspen moves due to the waves of water in the sea. (2) Nature continues the way as though it was unaffected by our death. Rivulet for example at last merges into the river and finally into a ocean, similarly death which is a natural process makes us one with god. The journey of a human soul ends by mingling with the god. The only way of mingling is death. (3) The poet says that the nature will remain as usual the alder tree, the low continuous sound of the bee, the sun and the moon. Only our lives will fade away from this world. G. (1) The poet is comparing the journey of a rivulet to the journey of a human soul whose ultimate aim is to mingle with the god where it rests in eternal peace. The rivulet crossing its different hurdles finally mingles with the ocean. (2) The poet compares the short life span of man to the seemingly eternal lifespan of nature. He expresses a longing to live on for eternity. However, nature lives on forever, while humans live for a short span. (LETS ANALYZE IT) Ans. The poem is expressed in a negative and depressing tone and expresses the fact that the moment an individual dies even his or family is no longer interested in keeping the body with. It explains that however much we conquer, at the end of the day, at last we have to succumb to the nature and we have to become one with the nature. (GRAMMAR TASK) A. (1) with (2) by (3) in (4) to (5) with (6) with (7) at B. a) feather b) a flower c) grass d) a cow e) an arrow f) a nail #. Ten roubles for carelessness as Kolya tore her coat. Ten roubles which the narrator's wife landed Mary Smith. (3) The narrator apologized for playing trick with Mary Smith because he was shunned to see Mary Smith never even protesting and objecting on wrong deduction of her salary. The narrator sole intention was to train her for future so that she may not get devoid of her rights. (LETS ANALYZE IT) Ans. Robots are man-made machines which can only work on getting instructions in the form of commands while human beings are the genuine creation of god on the Earth. They are gifted with a superior brain and wisdom. (GRAMMAR TASK): (B, D, F, G) J. (a) When will you leave? (b) How did they come? (c) Where does Surrendra stay? (d) Why do you exercise daily? (e) Where is my passport? (f) When will you go to Colombia? (g) when will the dinner get ready? (h) How much does the dress cost? (LETS WRITE) Ans. Yes honesty is the best policy. An honest person is blessed by the god. In the story Mary Smith was an excellent example of honesty. She did not even utter a word or object on receiving low salary. The narrator tried to infuriate her every time. But she had a good control on herself. She even thanked the narrator every time. This cool gesture impressed the narrator very much and he paid her full salary as promised without any deduction. (LETS ENTER) :

Dear Diary

Today felt glad on my master who wanted to train me for my future. Though he tried to anger me every time by mentioning unnecessary deductions from the salary. I was shocked to hear all this but being a servant I had no right to ill speak with him. I tried my best to hide my emotions and maintained balanced state of mind. I even thanked my master. My humbleness and politeness impressed him and he paid me Eighty roubles as my two months salary.
